Language Arts Department
Course Syllabus for Multicultural Literature
2017-18

Course Title: Multicultural Literature
Instructors: -Jordan - Room 510; Hart - Room 508; Isaacs- Room 535
-Emails can be found on the Northview website.

Textbook Information:

Textbooks/Novels become the responsibility of the student to whom they were issued from the time they are distributed until they are returned to the textbook coordinator/teacher. Damage to an issued book, tampering with a barcode or loss of a student's text book will result in an assessment for the value of a replacement book. If a damaged book is issued to a student then the student has two weeks to report it in the media center so the damage can be recorded or replacement book can be issued. Damaged books are considered to be books with broken bindings, torn pages or missing pages, written on pages, detached cover, missing or unreadable barcode.

There is no official textbook for Multicultural Literature*

Novels: Replacement Cost: $20.00

Course Description:

This course challenges students to push the boundaries of the conventional Language Arts class. Students will use various literary theories to examine literature, film and art for the purpose of discovering more about themselves and their worlds. To maximize student learning, the teacher will act as a facilitator and the student as an active learner. Students will be required to participate in class discussion and group work. Students will use writing as a vehicle to express their ideas, and opinions. This course is designed around three units of study: Fault and Redemption, Social Injustice and Outside Influences.

- All students will meet or exceed the Georgia Performance Standards for this course. These standards can be viewed by accessing the following website: https://www.georgiastandards.org/Georgia-Standards/Frameworks/CCGPS_ELA_Grades11-12_WSLITeacherGuide\(MultiLit\).pdf.pdf)

Unit descriptions:

Unit 1: Fault and Redemption

As humans we falter, and, hopefully, redeem ourselves. We will look at how literature, film and art present the idea of fault and redemption. Students will use Aristotle's Literary Theory as a framework for examining this story-telling model. Students will examine in-depth the idea of a flawed protagonist. How are flaws created? What is the result of the flaw(s)? Once a human falls, how does he/she get back up, if at all? The texts present a variety of flawed protagonists. Students will analyze the protagonists' flaws and how the protagonists attempt to redeem themselves. *Not every text is listed and some are subject to change.

Anchor Text	The Kite Runner -Khaled Hosseini
Supplemental Texts	- The Color Purple - A Streetcar Named Desire (excerpt/intro) –Tennessee Williams - Little Miss Sunshine - Clip -Aristotle's Literary Theory
Summative Assessment(s)	-Socratic Seminar -Fault and Redemption Essay

Unit 2: Social Injustice

A brief glance around the world clearly demonstrates that life isn't equal. We will delve into this idea through the lens of social, more specifically, political injustices. Often times we live in a vacuum; this unit helps students see the outside world through a broader lens. *Not every text is listed and some are subject to change.

Anchor Texts	-Choice nonfiction unit
Supplemental Texts	-Various articles/essays regarding prison system, death penalty, and current events - In the Name of the Father
Summative Assessment(s)	-Socratic Seminar -Research Project

Unit 3: Outside Influences

We are inundated daily by a barrage of information. Throughout this unit, we will break down information presented to us. We will begin with an analysis of the news: What is news? How, if at all, are reporters, newscasts, newspapers biased? How do we account for bias? We will look at social media and its pervasive influence in our lives. With a focus on nonfiction texts and film, we will determine how messages are created and what is really being said in the messages. We will use this as a framework for assessing what the media's influence should be in modern society. *Not every text is listed and some are subject to change.

Anchor Texts	- Geeks by Jon Katz or The Namesake by Jhumpa Lahiri
Supplemental Texts	-Episode(s) from HBO series Newsroom - V for Vendetta -Selected essays and articles
Summative Assessment(s)	-Newspaper

Unit 4: Search for Identity

How do we figure out who we are and where we came from? What influences build our character and ourselves? Who are you? How does how others view you, shape you? What does it mean to "belong" somewhere? How does your name/gender/race/birth order/etc. affect who you are?

Anchor Texts	- The Namesake by Jhumpa Lahiri
Supplemental Texts	-Selected essays and articles
Summative Assessment(s)	-Synthesis essay

Texts and assessments are subject to change.*

Course Requirements

Grade may be affected if students do not come to class prepared and on time.

Students MUST bring the following items to class daily:

- Textbook and/ or assigned novel
- Notebook/ journal/notebook paper
- Assignments due for the day

Tutorial Hours: 8-8:30am, or during lunch with appointment, or after school by appointment

Evaluation and Grading Scale

A= 90 and above B=80 – 89 C=70 – 79 F=69 and below

The number of points earned divided by the number of points possible in each grading category determines the grade.

Assignments are graded using the following categories:

Category	Description	Percentage of Final Grade
Summative assessment	Major tests/essays, projects, presentations, speeches, multimedia productions	40%
Quizzes	Reading, Grammar, etc.	25%
Formative assessment	Notes, grammar work, in class work, out of class assignments, quizzes, informal evaluations, small projects, discussions, overall work completion, etc.	20%
Final Exam		15%

Journals

At the beginning of most classes, I will assign a timed writing topic. The student will spend the first three to five minutes of class writing on the topic. If the student does not finish writing on the topic during class time, the student will finish the writing as homework. If the student is absent, he or she may get the topic from a peer and do the assignment for homework. Even if you are absent, you are required to complete that day's daily writing. I will randomly check the daily writings for a grade.

Assignments

The assignment must be ready to hand in when it is collected. If it is not ready at this time, it will neither be accepted nor considered on time, unless the student previously made arrangements with the instructor. Students may not turn in assignments during instructional time. Unlike the federal taxes, they may not be mailed either to school or to the instructor's home address, with a postmark of the due date. The materials must be received by the instructor on the due date in order to have the potential to receive full credit. Assignments will neither be assigned nor accepted the day preceding the exam. Any assignment due on the day of a field trip must be turned in prior to the student leaving for that field trip. Similarly, with prearranged absences, even excused, the assignment must be turned in on its' due date or before in order to receive full credit. The student is responsible to ensure that assignments are turned in; they may not blame parents, dogs, cars, sisters, brothers, broken technology, aliens, etc. for late work. It will not be accepted without penalty.

Absences

Attendance is mandatory in the World Literature course. Students are responsible for any material covered during their absence. Either consult the instructor during morning office hours or request the material from a trustworthy classmate. Consecutive absences may result in a significant drop in the student grade. Students should check the returned materials file upon returning from absence for assignments returned during their absences. School related absences require notification prior to the absence or the assignments due/covered will not be accepted. Field trips, club meetings, athletic activities/events, TAG sessions and other functions neither excuse work due, nor postpone the due date. Any material covered while the student is involved in a school related function must be attained.

Make-up Work:

Make-up work is the student's responsibility. It must be initiated by the student on the first day back to class after an absence. Only assignments missed during excused absences can be completed. An absence is excused if the student presents an official "Excused Absence" form from the attendance clerk or other member of administration; an absence is also excused if the student's name appears on the early dismissal, school field trip, or other appropriate list. All make-up work must be completed within one week, which starts the day a student returns from an absence. To complete any assessment, students must schedule an appointment. Daily assignments will be listed for each student to record upon his/her return.

On major (summative) assessments, students must turn in the assignment on the due date to have the opportunity to earn full credit. If the assignment is one day late, the highest possible grade becomes a 90%. If the assignment is 2 days late, the highest possible grade becomes an 80%. If the assignment is 3-5 days late, the highest grade becomes a 70%. If the assignment is six or more days late, the highest possible grade becomes a 50%. Major essays will be given an advanced due date and there will be a process to completing these assignments. Because of this, a student is still required to turn in the assignment (have parent/friend/sibling bring to school, email, turn in early) if they are absent the day it is due...excused or unexcused.

Tests and quizzes must be made up within 5 days of the absence.

Recovery Policy:

See page 20 in the Northview student handbook (also available through school website) for Fulton County's policy regarding recovery.

Exemption Policy:

See school handbook for the policy regarding exam exemption.

Honor Code:

See page 15 in the Northview student handbook (also available through school website) for Fulton County's policy on Honor Code.

Plagiarism is an Honor Code Violation.

Acts of plagiarism can include, but are not limited to:

1. using words or ideas from a published source or the internet without proper permission;
2. using the work of another student (e.g., copying another student's homework, composition, or project in entirety or in part;
3. using excessive editing suggestions of another student, teacher, parent, or paid author.

Excessive editing note: Students learn to write well through practice and independent exploration of language manipulation. This effort, like any learning experience, often requires persistence and "perspiration." Well-meaning parents, siblings, tutors, and others who contribute their own ideas, words, phrases, and revisions to a student's writing, not only cause that student to miss the opportunity to achieve self-reliance, but also inhibit the student from presenting his own voice.

Positive ways to help a student grow in his writing process include reading the paper or writing exercise and marking areas that need clarification, punctuation, elaboration, or more precise wording, allowing the student to figure out the error and correct it independently. Oftentimes having the student read the paper aloud will greatly help in error identification. Cues such as, "What exactly do you mean?" or "This sentence seems awkward" are also very appropriate.

Plagiarism on any project or paper at Northview School will result in a zero for the assignment and an Honor Code Violation.

Unless directly stipulated by the teacher, collaboration on written work is not acceptable.

Students who willingly provide other students with access to their coursework or homework are also in violation of the Honor Code.

Turnitin.com:

Students may be required to email essays, research papers, or other written work to turnitin.com. The website checks the submission for plagiarism, provides a receipt for the student to give to the teacher, and reports to the teacher that the student's work was not copied from any source. Students will be trained on the use of turnitin.com in the first week of school. Students who do not have email access at home may use the computers in the media center. Papers not submitted to turnitin.com by the cutoff date will be considered late.

Grade Reporting Schedule

PARENTS!: In addition to the school sending progress reports home with your child every 6 weeks, you can view all grades online through the Home Access Center. You can sign up for Home Access Center through the Fulton County website after receiving your login and password from the school's guidance office. You are highly encouraged to check this weekly especially for 2nd semester seniors.

Multicultural/Contemporary/World Literature Movie List

Dear Parents,

Your son/daughter(s) will be studying film during his/her language arts course. These courses introduce the concept of reading film rather than merely watching for entertainment. Much like we have traditionally analyzed literature, students learn that film is a medium of expression, commentary, opinion, etc. as are novels/ plays/ etc. Throughout this course we will be exploring how film directors use their craft to make their movies and influence their audiences. All the films we will be watching capture excellent examples of film direction and technique, as well as include other texts that enable the students to use the analytical skills they have already learned through the course. We will not be viewing all of these films in their entirety (unless your student is enrolled in Contemporary Literature); there will be specific clips chosen from films used to illustrate a specific technique.

As a class, we may view portions of all these films, keep a viewing log, and discuss film technique and composition. While those listed above have been frequently taught, other more recent films may be included based solely on relevance to course discussion, curriculum content, and student interest. Please indicate on the syllabus signature sheet, giving your child permission to study these and other films in our class. If you would prefer your child not study these films, we can arrange an alternative viewing assignment.

SIGNATURE SHEET – PLEASE PRINT AND RETURN TO YOUR LANGUAGE ARTS TEACHER ASAP.

Recovery Policy

1. Recovery is for students who, despite a conscientious effort and communication with their teachers, have failed to demonstrate satisfactory understanding of course standards. It is not for the student who has been failing for many weeks and then wishes to recover during the final days of the course. Opportunities for students to recover from a 74 or below cumulative average will be provided when all work required to date has been completed and the student has demonstrated a legitimate effort to meet all course requirements. Students who have not attempted to complete all course requirements are not eligible for recovery.
2. Students may initiate recovery on major assessments starting with the second major assessment of the semester as long as they have made a legitimate effort to meet all course requirements including attendance. Unexcused absences may prevent this opportunity.
3. So that students stay focused on the content at hand and don't become overwhelmed and fall too far behind, they must initiate recovery on a major assessment within five school days of being informed of the grade on that assessment. Recovery work must be completed within ten school days prior to the end of the semester. The nature and type of recovery assignment is given at the discretion of the teacher.

Grading guidelines for recovery assignments will vary by department. It is the responsibility of the student to fully understand the grading guidelines/highest possible score for completed recovery work.

Sign below if you understand the recovery policy.

HONOR CODE: Cheating has been defined as giving or receiving information relating to a gradable experience including the use of sources other than those specifically approved by the teacher. Plagiarism and the related act of allowing another student to use one's work are not to be considered inconsequential pranks. Such acts involve serious moral implications; they constitute lying and stealing. They are unjust to teachers who spend valuable time evaluating the paper. They are ultimately harmful to the student committing the act, who is deliberately undermining his/her integrity, destroying his/her reputation, and breaking the trust that must exist between a student and teacher. An honor code violation results in a zero on the assignment, no opportunity to make up the work, and disciplinary action. For the complete honor code policy, visit the Student Handbook on www.northviewhigh.com.

Sign below if you understand the consequences of cheating at Northview High School.

TECHNOLOGY POLICY: Northview computers are only for school research and projects. The Internet may not be used for personal reasons. Any unauthorized use of the internet will be grounds for disciplinary and/or legal action as well as loss of Internet privileges. Attempts to log into the internet using another person's password, falsely posing as a school system administrator, or other security violations are grounds for termination of privileges and disciplinary measures. Computer vandalism (including food/drink in a lab) is prohibited and will result in immediate termination of Internet and computer access as well as appropriate disciplinary action.

Violators are subject to criminal prosecution. For the complete technology policy, visit Student Handbook on www.northviewhigh.com.

It is a violation of the above policy:

- to download or install any executable programs (such as games, MP3 players, video players, chat programs, FTP programs, music or video sharing programs, etc.) to a school computer, or on to any student's share folder (Z drive).
 - to store any files (documents, pictures, videos, etc.) on any student's share folder (Z drive) that are not directly used in an assignment or teacher directed work; no personal documents, pictures, music videos or other files.
 - to use the school computers and internet connection to access email, games, chat rooms, sharing sites, ecommerce sites, etc, unless specifically directed by the teacher.

If this form is not signed by the student and a parent or guardian by Monday, August 25, the student's computer account will be disabled until the form is signed. Sign below if you understand the Northview technology policy.
